

ABSTRACT

A composition which can be used as platform for transdermal administration of therapeutically active compounds and/or nutrients. The composition comprises at least one therapeutically active compound and/or at least one nutrient, and a non-oily emulsion.